Quality Policy

The Dow University of Health Sciences (DUHS) is committed to saving and changing lives and to its goal of becoming a benchmarking institution committed to academic excellence. The University ensures quality through the delivery of student-centered, nationally and globally competitive education with compliance to accreditation and regulatory standards. DUHS upholds a robust quality assurance framework through the Quality Enhancement Cell (QEC), focusing on student feedback, continuous monitoring and evaluation, program self-assessment and evidence-based decision-making. This is achieved through periodic program reviews, measurable learning outcomes, and a sustained commitment to continuous quality improvement, accountability, and transparency in alignment with HEC and international standards.
